Canada's Role In Anglo-Americanism

by S. H. Crowther

Dorothy Thompson recently wrote, "In this growing complex of the English speaking peoples, Canada has a unique role. For Canadians are Americans and yet members of the British Commonwealth. Canada is the bridge between us (the United States) from Australia to the British Isles. Canada is the show-window of the order of free co-operation."

Geography makes it impossible for the United States to adopt a policy of neutrality towards Canada and history makes it impossible for Canada to adopt a policy of neutrality towards England. It has always been obvious that the United States would have to protect Canada. It was not obvious but has become so now that she must protect Great Britain to protect herself.

There is no conceivable role Canada would play, in this day and age, so useful as that of catalyst in the achievement of an English-speaking union. If Anglo-American relations are ever to be given an enduring basis, Canada must be their keystone. An English-speaking Union may be a consummation far less remote than once seemed possible. Hitler has set a fashion which other peoples, for their own protection, are almost compelled to follow. Bismarck once said that the greatest political fact of his times was "the inherent and permanent fact that North America speaks English". There exists an Anglo-American community of ideas and interests. The implications of the move which exchanged 50 American out-of-date destroyers for air and naval bases on Britain's Atlantic Islands are likely to fill many a page in the histories of the future.

Canada occupies a key position in the Empire and on the North American continent.

The whole British Empire is engaged in a struggle for self-preservation in which the safety of the United States is almost as imminently involved. In this period of uncertainty, some things stand out clearly. One is that the new relations between Canada and the United States, and between the United States and Britain, although born out of an emergency will outlive the period of crises. As Mr. Churchill put it very succinctly, British and American affairs are bound to be somewhat mixed from now on.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men,

Which, when taken at the flood Leads on to fortune —"

Boldly and skillfully handled by Canada, the new arrangement might not only solve many of her own immediate problems, but lead one bright day to the closing of the schism which for 166 years has divided the English-speaking peoples.

Under more inspiring leadership Canada might become a more inspiring nation. When that day comes Canada will have begun to grow up.

2 - 23rd Battery

by Lieut. W. I. MacKenzie

It is nearly two years since the local section of the 2-23rd Field Battery, R.C.A. C.A.(R) was organized with a strength of fifty men. This is Strathmore's first Reserve Unit and the members are proud of this distinction. The Reserve is often ridiculed by some members of the general public and yet it has a place in the defensive and offensive plans of our country. A Reserve Unit is always the nucleus around which a force for Active Service is mobilized. The parent 23rd was mobilized before the organization of the Strathmore Section and is an Anti-Tank Battery stationed in England. It is due to this that our section is called the second twenty-third.

When the local section was organized it was felt that it would form a means of giving basic training young men at a time when the facilities of basic training centres were not fully established. Thus as the young men volunteered or were called up they would be partially trained. The Reserve during its first year and a half of operation was primarily reinforcement in nature. During this period nearly one half of our strength enlisted for Active Service. In all twenty-four men whose names follow joined the service: Blaisie, F.; Boisvain, G.; Bowler, R.; Brown, L.; Colpoys, G.; Fawkes, J.; Hirtle, P.; Keeling, J.; Lambert, A.; Lugg, S.; May, T.; MacLean, C.; McLean, O.; Miller, G.; Oldham, T.; Robson, G.; Scott, A.; Slater, S.; Snook, N.; Tighem, L.; Vanden, L.; Woodliffe, W.; Wathen, L.; Woodrow, A.

With the entrance of Japan into the War and the resulting danger of invasion to our country, the Reserve in Canada was organized into Brigades for the defence of Canada. Our local section forms part of the Alberta Brigade. We are now devoting our drill periods to artillery training rather than to basic training. A profitable camp starting July 4 at Sarcee will enable the men to fire live ammunition from 18 pounders. Considerable mobile equipment is being provided and as the month pass our Reserve will develop into a potent force. Thus if our present defensive forces on the coast are pressed into service outside of Canada the Reserve would be in a position to take their place or if worse should befall and we were invaded they would be trained to resist.

We were organized and trained under the agreement that our local training expenses would be at no expense to the Government. For the past two years we have carried on by local support. Each year we have sponsored a dance, the proceeds of which, along with the help of the Town Council and Municipal Districts of Bow Valley and Keoma has paid for winter rentals. The Hall Committee of the local branch of the Canadian Legion provided us with winter training quarters at an exceptionally low rental. Members

ALL CANADA HONORS THE ARMY

They are well-trained, tough fighting men, these Canadian soldiers, who will be the guests of honour during Army Week, June 29 to July 5.

Army Week will fete the men on island posts away up north near Prince Rupert or at the batteries outside of Sydney, N. S., who day and night in all sorts of weather, keep watch and vigil. No more grim or drab task could be set for men and no men could show more resolution or keenness or determination.

All across Canada, in training centres, in units, these men are fitting themselves for the task that must come. Nothing could be more worthy than that the citizens of Canada should pay their respects and do honor to the officers and men and the women, too, of the Canadian Army.

There has been a tremendous increase in technical proficiency in the army. There are over forty different trades and not only do the mechanized units require tradesmen, but the armored formations call for about 35 percent of skilled men.

Under army administration right now there are 36 basic training centres and 25 advanced training centres, including those for armored corps, artillery, engineering, signalling, infantry, Army Service Corps, ordnance, medical, machine gun and small arms. There are two big officers' training centres, one at Brockville, Ont., and one at Gordon Head in British Columbia, with a combined present capacity of 1,800 instruction and planned for expansion to 3,000.

For the last few months Canada has been taking into training centres at least 15,000 men a month, which is at the rate of 150,000 a year.

Those men are taught more than the use of weapons. They are taught useful skills and trades and things of the mind and of the heart as well. Neatness, orderliness, pride in themselves, self-dependence, initiative, resourcefulness, and the ability to make something else do if they can't get the exact thing they want.

They are men to be proud of, these men of the Canadian Army, and it is fitting that all Canada should honor them.

PLEASE NOTE — A Dunsage Bag with contents is on display in A. D. Shrimpton's window. This is of much practical interest.

of the Branch have given advice and support that has been gratefully appreciated. The management of the King Edward Hotel allowed us to conduct rifle shooting in its basement. The Town Council provided us with Summer Training Quarters. To all of these and others who have aided us at drills, smokers and by publicity, the Boys of the Battery are greatly indebted.

During Army Week women of the Reserve salute those men of our ranks and community who are in the Active Service and pledge that while they are engaged hand to hand with the enemy we will train to protect their loved ones and our own from cowardly attack on the shores of our homeland.

Comrades In And Out of Arms

by W. S. Paterson

GEN. A. G. L. MACNAUGHTON

The Canadian Legion welcomes this opportunity to pay tribute to "Our Army" during Army Week.

Our organization composed of men and women who have served in any of the armed forces, mainly those who were engaged in the Great War of 1914 to 1918, have a thorough understanding and appreciation of army life in all its branches. The chief function of the Legion is the welfare of all service and ex-service personnel and their dependents. Many changes in the pension and other acts of benefit to them are a direct result of the Legion's endeavors, the various governments giving an attentive and friendly consideration to our representations and resolutions. Much of the improvements in army life as compared to what it was over 20 years ago can be traced to the work of our members.

No time was lost at the beginning of the present struggle to take immediate steps to be of assistance to the new army. The Canadian War Services was incorporated, and the old soldier is now in service for the new one. The success of the Educational service has already been reviewed, all that need be added is that no less than 112,069 students were registered at the end of 1941. To the same date 109,480 personal cases were handled, and the attendance of the 45 buses operated by the Legion totalled 7,425,749. Twenty-five canteens under their control were attended by 5,517,741. At the end of last year the staff of 338 supervised other activities such as sports and hostels, 15 mobile canteens, 1 tea car, 2 library vans, 539 libraries with 323,553 books in circulation and distributing 770,738 magazines, 11,750 concerts attended by 1,725,006, 14,205 movies seen by 3,668,426, comforts and parcels for the troops amounting to 14,131, and shipped overseas 14,403, 130 cigarettes. That's not all, but it is enough to show how much we think of our army.

No one better than a soldier who has seen service knows what it means to be in service. Once the uniform is worn there is a comradeship nothing can equal. It's unique. We are all one and we feel all one.

The need of a strong well trained army is the most pressing point in our call for a total war effort. When the Navy and the Air Force have had their innings, it is the Army that will be in at the kill. They will decide the final issue. This war may be different in a lot of ways, but fighting is still fighting even if the weapons are different. The finishing blows will be struck by the "Gentleman in Battle Dress" just as they were in the last war. No one can take their place or deprive them of that honor. Their time will come soon. The more there are of them and the better they are equipped, the sooner it will be over. If they have the knowledge that we are with them, the more they will be able to accomplish.

We wish them luck, and when they return victorious this year, next year or any year, with memories and tales of valor to equal that of Vimy, Ypres, and Amiens, we will all say as we say now, "Well done, Canadian Army."

In mounting the various articles for the handicraft exhibit.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Elaine Sarsons on July 9th.

ALBERTA FARMERS' UNION

A lively and interesting meeting was held Monday evening to discuss topics of local and general importance. Mr. Phil Sarsons was Chairman in the absence of the President Mr. Charles Cowell, who was detained by illness in the family.

Mr. C. E. Way was elected Secretary pro tem. About 25 men were present, five new members joining.

Resolution re: trucks, asking for a fairer ruling re. the use of trucks was framed and is to be sent to the meeting at Carbon.

Resolution re: P.F.A.A. asks for a fairer distribution and an amendment that all farmers who contributed to the fund should derive a benefit on a fair basis regardless of the number of bushels or the number of cattle.

E. Stoodly and Fred Hilton were appointed delegates to attend the convention to be held at Carbon in the near future.

Berta Vale - Serviceberry Women's Institute

The regular meeting of the W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Morton on Thursday, June 18. For the roll call the ladies exchanged their favorite recipes. There was a very good attendance, 16 members and 4 visitors were present.

Ten dollars were donated to the Red Cross.

Mrs. Morton was elected delegate to attend the district conference in Strathmore on June 24th.

Mrs. J. North read a very interesting paper on the "Laws Affecting Married Women."

The Red Cross

by PHOEBE PATRICK

Being Army Week, one's thoughts turn naturally to the army's partner—the Red Cross. For armies mean war, and war means sorrow and suffering, and sorrow and suffering bring the Red Cross. It is such a huge subject, being international, that it seems wise to confine ourselves to Canada's efforts about which we naturally know most.

There are three channels through which this society only can reach those needing help.

1. Food parcels to the prisoners of war
2. Blood donors clinics.
3. Tracing of missing persons.

With regard to the first, Canada being a land of plenty can best supply food. England is taxed to the utmost in every way. So $0,000 parcels of food per week are sent, also parcels to the inmates. All this is made possible by the unselfish giving of our people in the May drive for funds. New Zealand and Australia send funds for their own men but Canada provides the material. The parcels are all the same, and have been planned by doctors. Each contains a well balanced nutritious diet for one man for one week. These parcels actually save our men from starvation, and by such a method we expect to welcome our boys home physically fit. But our men possess active minds, and so the Red Cross has arranged through certain authorized channels, to send over sheet music and musical instruments, playing cards, games and study books. Next of kin may send a parcel of clothing and one chocolate bar every three months. It was discovered by the Red Cross that so many contraband articles had to be taken out that many parcels on arrival had dwindled considerably, to the keen disappointment of the recipients. So again the organization steps in and now refills any empty space with the proper articles. Quite apart from warmth and nourishment and occupation, you may judge what all this does for the morale of the men. With the fall of Tobruk, doubtless more parcels will be required, and we must heed the call.

Being able to send dried blood over to the Motherland and other scenes of conflict is proving a great blessing. The dried blood merely has to be mixed with sterilized water in the proper manner, transfused into the veins of the patient and a life is saved. Many of you may have seen the samples of dried blood on the army train while it stood at Strathmore station. It is noteworthy that of those who give their blood many are veterans of the last Great War.

The tracing of missing relatives is no small task. Almost every nationality is represented in Canada and many of their countries are now occupied by the enemy. When requests are made, all information possible is collected and sent to Geneva, Switzerland, the centre of the Red Cross. From there enquiries have been required, and there is joy in others the missing are discovered as prisoners of war, or as having died and there is sorrow. An answer may take months or even years to come, but when it comes the terrible suspense of 'not knowing' is over. Two more distinctly Canadian projects—at Tapscott, England, is a large military hospital, built with Canadian money, equipped with Canadian furnishings, staffed with Canadian doctors, nurses and domestic help. Of course our lads are also nursed at other hospitals, and to these hospitals go Canadian women who work with the Red Cross in the Old Country. They carry added comforts, invalid delicacies, an offer to write letters, a home town newspaper, and a good Canadian smile! The second project is that of hostels of which the Beaver Club in London is perhaps the chief. These lads may go when on leave and it is from this club we so often hear our boys speak over the air. There are mobile kitchen units and ambulances for devastated areas, surgical instruments for first aid posts, medical supplies, general Red Cross help for our allies.

There is scarcely need to write of the hospital supplies, woollen comforts for the forces, clothing for the refugees and bombed out areas of Great Britain. Those who have eyes and ears must see the busy fingers plying the needles and hear the discussions of patterns and materials. There are ten centres in Great Britain where Red Cross supplies are kept, so any area bombed can receive the quickest possible relief. This war is ever opening up fresh problems and therefore fresh solutions. The latest is help for men who are picked up from life boats after their vessels have been torpedoed. 'Dunnage bags' each containing a complete outfit for a man, are kept at all Atlantic ports and specially in Newfoundland, and carried by all corvettes and torpedo boat destroyers. As need arises these bags will also be at Pacific ports.

Letters of thanks which are constantly coming to the Red Cross are most touching in their gratitude. They stimulate all workers to further effort. One word about the Junior Red Cross. There are 800,000 boys and girls enrolled in Canada. These learn the rules of healthy living, earn their own money to help others by turning it into mobile kitchens, the support of war nurseries, splints for military hospitals, clothing and comforts for victims of air raids and finance a hospital for crippled children in Calgary. One expects sympathy and help from adults in cases of sorrow and suffering but when such unselfishness is voluntarily given by our young people it answers well for the children of the future.

Phoebe Patrick.

Good nourishing food, and plenty of it, is still an essential part of the soldier's equipment. In producing enormous quantities of foodstuffs for our fighters, for armament workers, for the people of Britain and other embattled countries, Canadian farmers are engaged in a vital war work.

1867 - Dominion Day - 1942
Army Week In Canada

With the celebration this week of our Natal Day, July 1, Canada has reached the three quarters of a century mark. We can scarce believe that the Fathers who sat around the table where the discussion of Confederation was being waged with such earnestness and hope, pictured a country that in so short a time, as nations go, would be so completely absorbed in the prosecution of a war for the preservation of our liberty and the freedom to live one's own life largely according to one's own choosing. Rather their aims and desires were directed to laying the foundation on which could be developed a free progressive and intelligent country.

Now we are at war, the most terrible, far reaching of all time. Our men have offered themselves by the thousands in the defence of this homeland and the Empire and for the preservation of the freedom we all hold so dear.

Of the spirit, initiative and courage of our forces, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Gen. Stuart and Gen. A. G. L. MacNaughton are proud and they each speak in the highest terms of the Canadian soldier, and the way they are proving themselves.

Canada has achieved an important place in the concourse of nations. She has gained this proud position in, we believe, a shorter period of time than has been achieved by any other country at any other time.

Now while natural peace-time development is for the time being diverted, on the other hand, the very necessity of war equipment is bringing rapid development of materials, natural resources and inventive genius.

The selection of Canada as the Air-Training Centre for the Allies will have far reaching development and is affording the men who come to our shores a first hand opportunity of knowing Canada that should react beneficially on both visitor and native born.

So we celebrate Army Week in 1942 and hope and pray fervently that July 1943 will see the Allies riding on the crest of the wave of Victory. Most gladly in this Army Week of 1942 do we salute the officers and men of all branches and commend their courage, initiative and sacrifice.

May the Peace Treaty that is made be one in very truth.

May the Peace Treaty that is made be one in very truth, in which the common men, the men of the armed services, the men in every walk of life shall be assured that this is a peace treaty. There must be a treaty which allows a chance to grow, a 'place in the sun' if we like, to not just a few nations, not just a few individuals, but to every nation, to every citizen.

Those who formulate the Treaty must see to it that they are ready to forget the past, and be willing to build only for the future. "Let the dead past bury its dead." There will be no time for dwelling on former, bygone injustices, for bringing to mind the common "ifs" and "or only's". After the war, there will be time only for reconstruction, for seeing to it, that this war, which is being fought to preserve the democratic way of life, ensures that there is no possible chance of our losing our democratic way of life — that what we have earned, what we have fought for, we are actually achieving.

We must see to it, in spite of all the difficulties that will be raised, that there is no return to conditions such as were existent during the past ten or twelve years. We must see to it, that our men in the forces will not come home to a country where there is no welcome for them . . . to a country where there are no opportunities for them . . . to a country which has nothing to offer them.

No one can listen to the age old cry, no longer at any rate, of "where is the money coming from?" We heard that cry all through the depression, we have heard it down the years, and we have seen it come . . . when it was needed, when there was a strong enough desire for it. And who can say that it is not just as much a responsibility to see that we win the peace, as to see that we win the war? Who can say that we must not conscript our wealth after the war, if need arises?

Those who advocate bending all of our energies to winning the war, and then, and then only, to take steps towards the peace, are advocating sheer folly.

Can you sit idly by, knowing the while that our boys who are "over there" can come back to a country which can do nothing for them, which can only say to them— "Our Boys — Heroes All!"

Our Boys — and yours?

SPORTS DAY
BEST IN YEARS

Perfect weather, a large crowd, a variety of interesting sports, perfect planning on the part of the committee so that every event could be run off on the proverbial "clock-work" plan, all combined to make the most successful Sports Day held in Strathmore for many years.

The committee wish especially to express their appreciation to the young girls who entered the Bathing Beauty contest as this feature is an interesting one, and adds greatly to complete the program. The girls show good sportsmanship notwithstanding they are a bit hesitant in entering.

The committee of Lions members who worked so zealously were: Children's Sports—G. Giron; Softball—H. Martin; Horse Shoes—G. Anderson; Bathing Beauties—Hughes, Pearson and Giffin; Children's Bicycles—Hay, Shrimpton and Ridley; Grounds—Shrimpton and Hughes; Dance—Hay, Shrimpton and Mercer; Gates—Hunt and Anderson; Refreshments—Giron and Mercer.

The children's events took place early in the day, and a weary but happy bunch of boys and girls returned in the afternoon to watch the ball games horse shoe pitching and Bathing Beauty contests. Their decorated bicycles were in evidence all over Strathmore while the MacKenzie dog was quite unperturbed at winning the homely dog contest.

Afternoon events ran off smoothly, and hilarity was evoked when Walter Mercer produced a team of girls to play the men. Hughes turned the tables by producing a large apple for use as a ball, but was discovered immediately. Quite openly Umpire Ravathorne accepted bribes, lay down on the job, and tripped a brief light fantastic with Mr. Hughes. Mr. Shrimpton showed true chivalry by bowing and lifting his hat most deferentially to the opposing team as they changed places on the field.

The Strathmore—Gleichen Band provided excellent music.

Later in the evening, many people finished off a splendid day by attending the dance, and having fun generally.

Among the winners were: DIVING—Boys' open: 1. Gordon Peters, 2. Ted Roberts, 3. Kenneth MacKenzie. Girls' open: 1. Marie Campbell, 2. K. Campbell, 3. Virginia Bower. Boys under 12: 1. Olin Bowers, 2. Leslie Roberts, 3. Bobbie Wilson. SWIMMING—Boys' open: 1. Kenneth MacKenzie, 2. Ted Roberts, 3. Stanley Wright. Girls' open: 1. Virginia Bower, 2. Marie Campbell, 3. Kathryn Campbell. JUNIOR DECORATED VEHICLE—1. Jackie Melissen, 2. Alex Fedelwich, 3. Bobbie Galbraith. DECORATED BIKES—1. Stanley Wright, 2. Bobbie Wilson, 3. Johnnie Wilson. BATHING BEAUTY CONTEST—1. Edna Hartell, 2. Rosemary Hilton, 3. Ellen Wilson. HOMELY DOG—Peter MacKenzie. SOFTBALL—Elwood vs. Strathmore 10 - 3. Walter Mercer's "Would Be Stars" vs. A. D.'s "All Stars" 12 - 3. Meadowbrook vs. Nightingale 12 - 1. HORSE SHOES—Mr. J. A. Tench.

Christian Science

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is Isaiah 2:2. One of the Scriptural citations is 'Praise ye the Lord; for it is good to sing praises unto our God; for it is pleasant; and praise is comely' (Psalm 147:1). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is

WISHING THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF THE CANADIAN ARMY EVERY SUCCESS.

We have unlimited confidence in your courage and ability to not only protect our Shores but to do your duty, regardless of where the call may be.

It was previously reported in the Standard that for the present the Calgary Salvage Depot would not be collecting any more waste paper, as factories still consuming the material have all that they can handle. Depots in all parts of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have also been asked to stop collecting waste paper. Word from the National Salvage Bureau states that salvage committees with supplies of paper on hand should write to W. S. Kieley, 336 Kingsway, Winnipeg, Man. He will do his best to assist committees in moving present stock, according to the notice.

That rubber stamp means we can say Canada's cotton textile industry is 11 times ahead of its war production records of 1914-18.

The industry is delivering about 215,000,000 yards a year of aircraft fabric, ammunition pouches, anti-gas cloth, camouflage netting, gun covers, parachute webbing, powder bags, uniform cloth, web equipment and other essential materials.

Dominion Textile is proud to have a part in this. We also wish to report that our plant employees are earning 28% more per hour than in 1939, and we pay 5.4 times more in taxes than the total paid in dividends to our several thousand shareholders.

ROCKYFORD

— By K. M. G. —

The Rockyford district is rejoicing over the recent 5 1-2 inches of rain that fell the last three days of the week. It came just as the farmers were beginning to worry about dry weather and a new crop of grasshoppers that were putting in an appearance in some parts of the district. The roads which have been quite highly graded are rapidly drying out in the fresh breeze.

Mrs. Johnny Heinzelmer and baby girl arrived home last Wednesday and are staying with her mother, Mrs. Piggin, for a short time.

Mrs. and Mrs. Heimbecker had a nice family reunion over the week end with their daughter and her husband and young daughter, also Pilot Officer Lyle Heimbecker and his wife.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Ed Wilson has been ill for over a week. We wish her a speedy recovery. She has only been home from the hospital for a short time with her new baby daughter.

Sgt. J. Wallis Gibson and his wife and two boys returned to Vancouver on Monday evening after a two weeks leave at Rockyford with relatives and renewing acquaintances in the dis-

The schools are now closing for the summer holidays with celebrations of farewell parties and school closing picnics. The return of good weather has made these possible.

Mrs. Poole has returned from Tacoma, Wash., where her mother was ill. Mrs. Poole herself was quite ill with flu while she was away.

SHOULDER to SHOULDER!

TO FIGHT FOR THEIR HOMES

Canada Proud of Canadian Soldier

Statement of Lieut.-General K. Stuart,
Chief of the General Staff—

I am intensely proud of the men in khaki who are serving Canada today. I feel that my fellow Canadians who are engaged in business feel just the same as I do.

As I said in my recent talk over the CBC, we must always remember that training in the army has one ultimate purpose, the defeat of the enemy in battle. To attain this end our forces must have moral, mental, and physical superiority over the enemy. We must out-think him and out-fight him, and to do this our moral and fighting spirit must be superior.

NO better tonic for the fighting spirit of any soldier is the knowledge that his countrymen are proud of him and have confidence in him.

Tall, lean, athletic and witty, Gen. Stuart bears no resemblance to the popular idea of a "brass hat". At the capital they say no professional soldier has shown such disdain for red tape or got things done by more direct routes.

LIEUT.-GENERAL K. STUART

ROUGH-RIDERS OF CANADA'S ARMY

Canadian soldiers send their sturdy Canadian-built carrier flying over the brow of a knoll during manoeuvres at Camp Borden. With expert service crews to keep them rolling, machines are not spared in training men for the toughest brand of modern warfare.

When these boys come up against the enemy they'll be the equal of the toughest battle-scarred warriors.

Billy Atto is coming back to the district after several years absence. He is now married and is bringing his wife and child with him.

The annual combination picnic was postponed last week and took place at Berta Vale Tuesday with a good attendance and ideal weather.

The Hervey Sewing Club met at Mrs. Leslie Campbell's home last week with 11 ladies present. Two quilts were turned over to Strathmore Red Cross for Hervey.

Mr. and Mrs. Sadler and Lawrence motored to Mrs. Sadler's former home at Alix to say good-bye to her brother Ray McKibbin, before he leaves for Eastern points to finish his Air Force training.

Mrs. Elmer Klippert and Walter were visitors at the Lacycraft home several days last week.

NAMAKA

By M. W.

Namaka and Cairnhill Schools combined to hold a very successful picnic at the Beaver Dam on Monday, June 29th. After the races for the children a ball game between the two schools was played. Cairnhill emerged victorious with 15-14. This was followed by a delightful picnic lunch. In the evening another softball game between Namaka and Cairnhill men was won by the Namaka team at 19-12.

Norman Ellis has landed safely in England. Miss Nancy Fawkes received a cablegram on June 25th.

VETERANS VOLUNTEER RESERVE Pride In

by W. S. PATERSON

The outbreak of hostilities found many who had taken part in previous conflicts eager to again be of service to their country. A provincial organization was formed, and the Veterans Volunteer Reserve was the result. This is comparable to the Home Guard of the British Isles, although somewhat less on the military setup. The local unit made a good start and before long mastered the art of drilling in "threes" instead of the former "Form Fours", and were as snappy as they were in the old days in handling a rifle. The need of being able to shoot straight was early recognized, and to that end indoor target practice has been held in the King Edward Hotel basement two and three times a month. It was planned this summer to get nearer the real thing and have an outdoor range, but the inability to secure the necessary ammunition has postponed that to a date when it can be secured.

All members are sworn in as special constables, and being in various different parts of the district it is known that their presence has silenced the loose talk that was common early in the war. Their usefulness to the R. C. M. P. would soon be realized if that body required assistance. The interest taken in this movement locally is greatly due to the capable leadership of Platoon Commander C. E. Way ably assisted by Sergeant G. A. MacLean and Section Leaders A. V. MacFarland, A. P. Gray and J. S. Gunn. The unit is not confined to ex-service men, anyone who desires to do his bit by joining will be welcomed.

"Waiter, there's no wishbone in this chicken."

"It didn't need one, sir. That chicken lived such a contented life that it had nothing to wish for."

Our Boys

By T. M. Wears, Barrister

So this is army week, and it certainly evokes feelings of pride, pride of our boys who have responded to the call for freedom, conscription or no conscription. Of course there really is in effect conscription so far as enlistment is concerned, with a certain restriction, although the bulk of Canadians are anxious that there be no restriction. Still we are proud of our boys and we are satisfied that they will give a good account of themselves, and when it is all over those who have outlived the War will stand a tip-toe when they return, a band of brothers, with the satisfaction to them and to us of having made a bid for freedom.

Guaze is said to have been first named in Gaza, in Palestine; hence its name.

The Canadian Pacific is proud of the fact that at May 15th, 1942, leave of absence had been granted to 10,596 employees from all branches of the Company, for active service in the Army, Navy, Air Force and for war service under direction of the British Admiralty.

AN ARMY EVERY CANADIAN MAY WELL BE PROUD OF

◆ Crouched and poised, with disciplined impatience, waiting to pounce at the enemy, is Canada's great army which will form the spearhead of that decisive offensive just about to be—"a dagger pointed at the heart of Hitler."

That something, that the vastness and ruggedness of this great country imparts to men who have still a strong strain of pioneer blood in their veins, has made possible the mustering of an army unsurpassed for physical fitness, and which in mental mould and moral might is the most magnificent that has ever set forth to defend the freedoms and uphold the honor of this young and virile nation of ours.

We, of Massey-Harris, are naturally proud that many from the various divisions and branches of our far-flung organization are serving in the ranks of this great army. It is gratifying, also, that the thousands in our several plants are permitted to play an important part in providing the machines and munitions so essential to the success of that army in modern mechanized warfare.

And the great Canadian Army which has, as our Minister of National Defence says, "a larger proportion of armored troops than any army in the world," will be a decisive factor in hastening the day of victory.

MASSEY-HARRIS COMPANY LIMITED
THE SERVICE ARM OF THE CANADIAN FARM

MASSNY-HARRIS ON WAR FOOTING

PLANTS WORK AT CAPACITY PRODUCING ARMAMENTS AND FARM EQUIPMENT

Remarkable evidence of the extent to which a large Canadian industry can swing into line and be an important factor in producing munitions for the war effort may be gathered from an illustrated booklet put out by the Massey-Harris Company, entitled "Implements and Munitions for War-time Needs."

Shells of three different calibres, wings and spars for trainer planes, light and heavy bodies for transport vehicles, special mechanized equipment for various branches of the services, metal fittings for aircraft, links for tank treads, are some of the implements of war which the company is producing in quantity. To meet the needs of the fighting forces for more shells, more planes, and more equipment, the wheels of Massey-Harris war industries are kept turning to maximum capacity.

The company has concentrated upon making shell projectiles, for which purpose three separate departments one for 25-pounders, one for 60-pounders, and one for anti-aircraft shells have been equipped and put into production. Modern automatic machines turn out shells four times faster than in the last war, and thousands upon thousands of shells come from these plants every week.

Application of the latest manufacturing methods has enabled Massey-Harris to produce quickly equipment for mechanized units.

In the United States the Massey-Harris Company has been given what is reputed to be the largest contract yet awarded to a manufacturer in the state of Wisconsin—a contract to make tanks in large quantities for the U. S. Army.

While the production of armaments takes precedence, and rightly so, yet mindful of the need for farm equipment to offset the labor shortage and the importance of vital food production programs, the Massey-Harris Co. has been making and is continuing to make tractors and implements insofar as materials are made available for the purpose through the administration and control set up by the Government, which in the best interest of our maximum war effort, has deemed it necessary to curtail considerably the production of farm machinery.

THE RAIN. It was a grand rain and just when much needed. In the Strathmore district, 4 1/2 to 5 inches of rain fell. We hear some of the cellars are flooded which is very inconvenient, but the rain did so much good to the wheat and other crops that were just on the verge of withering that the benefit outweighs any discomfort, and everyone is rejoicing in the abundant moisture.

Friday afternoon last, Mrs. Sorenson entertained at a very delightful bridge of five tables complimenting Mrs. R. Backhouse and her house guest Mrs. Morris of Calgary. News has been received from Harold Freeman in England of the death of Sgt. Pilot L. J. Springthorpe, a nephew of Mrs. H. Freeman and Mr. W. E. Springthorpe, whilst flying in Scotland. It is just a year since he came to Calgary to train with the R. A. F. and he paid several visits to Strathmore where he made many friends. He was twenty years old, and a native of London, England.

IN APPRECIATION

T. S. HUGHES

MAYOR OF STRATHMORE

Living in Canada in peace and security, a very small percentage of us have, so far, taken this present world conflict seriously. Our sacrifices, to date, have been slight and yet many complain of increased taxes, war time restrictions, etc., but long before this conflict is over, they will consider their present day difficulties trivial.

Our boys and girls who have gone on Active Service are making a sacrifice which cannot be estimated in dollars and cents but it is through their loyalty, and their loyalty only, that we as Canadians can proudly say, our country is honestly doing its part to further the Allied cause.

To the boys and girls in our Army, I take this opportunity of extending to them our sincere appreciation for the service they have and will render to their country and we all join in wishing them every success.
